The Cornell SC Johnson College of Business is launching a cluster search for two tenure-track faculty positions in innovation and entrepreneurship, beginning July 1, 2018. The appointment may be made in whichever of the College’s three AACSB-accredited Schools best fit the successful candidate’s specific expertise. This is an open rank search in which candidates at the assistant, associate, and full professor levels will be considered. A named professorship is a possibility for the right candidate(s).

RESPONSIBILITIES: Desirable candidates should be at the interface of innovation and entrepreneurship and various fields, including but not limited to economics, finance, sociology, strategy, management and organizations, marketing, operations management and organizational behavior. All candidates will be expected to maintain a highly impactful program of research and teaching in the area of innovation and entrepreneurship. Senior candidates will be called upon to take a leadership role in strengthening the College’s research, instructional and co-curricular capabilities related to innovation and entrepreneurship and in fostering collaboration with faculty across areas. Candidates will be expected to engage with the rest of the University through the vibrant Entrepreneurship@Cornell ecosystem.

OPPORTUNITIES: Cornell University is an innovative Ivy League university and a great place to work. Our inclusive community of scholars, students and staff impart an uncommon sense of larger purpose and contribute creative ideas to further the university's mission of teaching, discovery and engagement. Located in Ithaca, NY, Cornell’s far-flung global presence includes the medical college’s campuses on the Upper East Side of Manhattan and Doha, Qatar, as well as the new Cornell NYC Tech campus that opens in 2017 on Roosevelt Island in the heart of New York City.

The SC Johnson College of Business consists of three schools. The Samuel Curtis Johnson Graduate School of Management (Johnson) offers professional Masters and PhD programs. Courses and programs are taught at Cornell’s main Ithaca campus, the Cornell Tech campus in New York City, and other locations across the globe. The School of Hotel Administration (SHA) is the world’s premier School in hospitality management, offering bachelor’s through PhD degrees. SHA also hosts the University’s real estate programs. The Charles H. Dyson School of Applied Economics and Management is a top-ranked undergraduate business program and home to premier graduate (MPS, MS and PhD) programs in applied economics. The successful candidate will also belong and contribute to at least one of the College's seven academic Areas: Accounting, Applied Economics and Policy, Finance, Management and Organizations, Marketing and Management Communication, Operations, Technology and Information Management, or Strategy and Business Economics.

Potential exists to collaborate with researchers across Cornell, including scholars in Cornell’s outstanding programs in economics, engineering, human resource studies, organizational behavior, computing and information sciences, and the new New York City Cornell Tech campus on Roosevelt Island. Cornell also has a University-wide entrepreneurship program which provides opportunities for cross-campus engagement, including in two new E-Hub facilities that provide collaborative space for student and faculty teams.
QUALIFICATIONS: A Ph.D. in economics, finance, sociology, organizational behavior or theory, strategy, or other business fields with an emphasis on innovation and entrepreneurship is required.

APPLICATION: Electronically submit to https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9838 your letter of application; vita; personal statement summarizing relevant interests and leadership efforts; reprints of selected major papers; and names and contact information of three references (those who have graduated in the last two years must have letters of recommendation sent; we will not contact references from established applicants without prior consent).
